“ Dear Russ and family, Dan and I will miss Mary in the choir, church and helping Janet in her first grade Sunday School Class. We had many sweet talks on the phone and texting. She knew we liked mushrooms and it was a treat when she brought us some this past Spring. I know Mary loved the Lord and she is sitting at the right hand of our Father now. She told me many times she would like to borrow my clothes because she liked my style. Now she has on a garment of righteousness. Someday Mary and I will sing in a heavenly choir together and I will not have to ask her to help me get on key because we will all be perfect and have no pain or sorrow. Thank you Jesus for that promise.
Russ it is an encouragement to Dan and I to see you faithfully in church and watch you grow in the Lord.

Love in Christ, Dr. Dan and Janet Kaffenbarger

“ May God's peace calm your hearts at this time of need. I enjoyed many conversations with Mary, and one thing is sure...she loved her boys and her grand babies! I am so sorry for your loss.

“ When we were kids, Mary and I were pretty close. We both liked to watch the Incredible Hulk on Friday nights. I would call her and we would watch it while we were on the phone. I'd say something silly and she would laugh like it was the funniest thing she had ever heard. Mary was very special to me. I am so sad that I have lost not only a cousin but a true friend. She was a better person than I could ever dream to be and knowing that she is no longer with us is very hard for me to get my head around. I do know that she is in a better place now and that makes it easier.

“ a month and a half before my wedding, when most of my family and church family were lacking support for me and my fiance, i found some in mary. i didn't seek it; she pulled me aside at my niece's wedding, somehow knowing my inner unhappiness about the situation, and gave me some very kind and thoughtful advice that i will always cherish. she told me that she knows what it's like to be on the outside looking in at those with whom you used to be, and what it's like to not be the "golden child" anymore. she told me to do what i feel is right, not what others think, because it is my life and my relationship with God. i was, and am, so very grateful for her doing that for me. i didn't know mary well at all. there was an age gap between us and i was young for most of her membership at Faith Baptist church. i do recall a few times she came to town, and she was always so sweet and inclusive and showed great joy at greeting me and others. i wish this were different; that instead of mourning Mary, we were celebrating her. but at least we can find the comfort that she spread in the world and know that she is no longer in turmoil, but in heaven with her Savior.

I too didn't know Mary that well, but she was my neighbor for a short time while she was going thru difficult times. You couldn't tell it because of her friendly ways, I'm glad she was there for you. God puts people in your life in the right moments. She was a very good Christian woman and gave good Christian advice. God bless Mary and all the family and friends that loved her. I am thankful to have known her.
