“ Steven Mitchell was a wonderful man who was willing to help any of his coworkers whenever we would call. We will miss his wonderful smile and helpful attitude. He is one of the smartest men who when he would talk, would be way above my head, and all I could do was smile and nod. He will be greatly missed in our company and as a co-worker. The last memory I have is one where I accidentally sent an email to him, that was not for him. He politely responded, "I am sure you probably meant to send this message to someone else ... but it was fun to get in my inbox" ?

-Steven

So comforting to hear he was a minister and is in heaven with Jesus!

Sincerely,

Annette Turner- Assistant Administrator at Oakwood Village

“ Cynthia, I am so sorry to hear of your loss. Steve was such a nice man, always good to work with. The time he was most talkative with me was one day when the conversation somehow changed from a computer problem to his children. The love, joy and pride he felt was so clear! My heart goes out to you as you carry him now in your heart.

“ I last saw Steve on Weds, Nov 11th @ the hospital. He was talking on a cell phone & I waved to him as I walked by. Steve waved back. Little did I know in a few days, Steve would be playing guitar in heaven! He was a kind & gentle person, with a wonderful sense of humor. I will miss Steve. My condolences to the Mitchell Family. You are in my prayers. God has got your back! Love , Cousin Debbie Parsley

“ One of my fondest memories of my uncle Steve was when I was a small boy. My mom and I were his neighbors living in Red Coach. One afternoon he let me hang out with him at his apartment. He picked me up in his red Porshe. I always liked that car. It just made him seem so cool. He was all dressed up in dress slacks with a shirt and tie and nice shoes. He had a trench coat on. I never saw him poorly dressed and always in nice clothes. On the way to his home we stopped by Dominoes for pizza since that was a favorite of his. When we arrived at his home we sat down started eating pizza and watching movies. He let me play on his computer and introduced me to the Internet and I was amazed. I couldn't believe it. He was talented at drawing and would always draw something for me when I asked. Mostly it was superheroes. I liked Batman and Spider-Man, while he had a soft spot for Silver Surfer and Green Lantern. He and I shared similar interests. We both loved comic books, science fiction and fantasy. We had a strong bond and connection to one another. He was more than my uncle. He was father figure and a great friend.
